

Picture of chandelier www.jpilmyegg.com

SUPERIOR INTERIORS

Thinking of giving your home a facelift? Head to the Homes & Interiors Scotland Exhibition, where you'll find all the inspiration you need Giving your home a makeover is an exciting prospect, but if you're in danger of drowning in swatch books and paint samples, fear not – help is at hand. At this year's Homes & Interiors Scotland Exhibition we have gathered together the country's top interior designers, who will take part in a series of talks throughout the event.

They will also be creating a stunning Interior Design Showcase at the heart of the show. Taking the form of a series of beautifully designed rooms, it is sure to give you ideas about what you can achieve in your own home. This walk-through attraction will house a family-friendly kitchen/diner, a drawing room, a dining room, a study, a master bedroom, a guest bedroom, a hallway and a garden.

Over the weekend, all the designers will be on hand to talk you through how they put the rooms together and to answer questions about your own decor dilemmas.

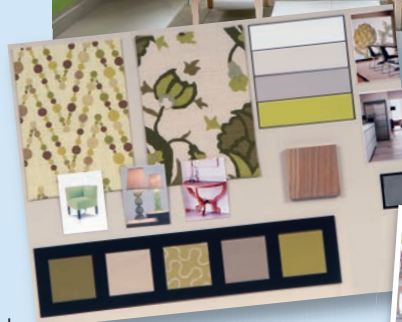

Over the next few pages, we introduce the eight designers taking part this year as they give us a sneak preview of what they are planning for the show, as well as talking us through their top tips for making the most of your living space before you visit the show. Take it away...

INTERIOR DESIGN SHOWCASE

Last year's dining room created by Malcolm Duffin Design & Decoration

Artist's impression

Jeffreys Interiors designed the master bedroom last year. This year they work their magic on the hallway

Artist's impression

Mood board

MEET THIS YEAR'S DESIGNERS ►

INTERIOR DESIGN PROFILE

INTERIORS BY ANGELA BARR

Angela started her design career in 1997, swiftly gaining a loyal following of repeat clientele. She enjoys the diversity of each of her projects, which range from listed buildings to ultra-chic town apartments. With a carefully selected and passionately dedicated team of professional craft and tradespeople behind her, she works to deliver results beyond her clients' expectations. Angela and her team work from concept to completion, designing and sourcing all materials – including wallcoverings, furniture, flooring, lighting and accessories – in order to create carefully designed interiors matched to her clients' needs and personalities.

SHOW PREVIEW MASTER BEDROOM

“Our theme is romantic glamour. We have selected a dreamy powdery palette dusted with silver highlights to provide the backdrop for a stunning range of bedroom furniture by Jetclass. Decadently soft and luxurious furnishing fabrics will further add to the drama, as will a stunning chandelier.

TOP TIP “We spend about a third of our lives in our bedrooms but many modern bedrooms are small in size. Using mirrors and mirrored furniture is an old trick that works. They bounce back light and double the impression of space. Team with metallic elements in wallcoverings and clear glass accessories.”

Interiors By Angela Barr Ltd
 Carmichael Place,
 8 Lochwinnoch Road,
 Kilmacolm
 01505 872223
 enquiry@abarrinteriors.co.uk
 www.abarrinteriors.co.uk

